Local Taxpayers Wait Decision on Validity of New County Rate

Whether or not the County Board Supervisors violated the budgeting and taxation laws by their action in adopting the county tax rate for 1948-49, and "freezing" certain items in the budget is a question the courts may be asked to decide, it appeared today.

The tax rate as fixed by the Board is an increase of 26.4 cents over the rate of the last fiscal year. This was set after the Supervisors found that a rate of 32.71 cents would be necessary to meet the requirements of the budget they had adopted some months ago, but feared it would be too heavy a drain upon the taxpayers.

In order to reach the rate decided upon, the supervisors voted to "freeze" $2,700,000, various items in the budget, thus cutting 6 cents on each $100 assessed valuation.

The board deducted $1,220,000 from the budget for Civic Centers in the following cities: Whittier, $200,000; Santa Monica, $200,000; Huntington Park, $231,970; Altadena, $100,000 and San Fernando, $281,690. Also cut was an item of $207,000 for the Glendale incinerator.

This means while the items are still in the budget no revenues will be raised to meet them and the expenditures will not be made.

Supervisor W. A. Smith took the position that the budget advertised and once adopted, must be provided for, although the assistant county counsel expressed an opinion that the courts would probably sustain the Board in its action if the matter ever reached legal action.

Cut from the budget was $1,550,000 in funds originally intended for the new Juvenile Hall. The Board, however, will submit a $3,500,000 Bond Issue to the voters at the November election to provide funds for this purpose.

The County Counsel cautioned the Board on their action in "doctoring" the final budget after its formal adoption.

New Travel Sound Film Obtainable

Pan American Airways today announced the release of its new travel film covering Mexico and Guatemala. The 30-minute live sound color movie is available without charge for showing by civic groups, clubs and similar organizations. The films may be obtained by calling the nearest Pan American Airways office.

This brings the total number of Pan American "Wings" series of travel films to seven. Others cover Cuba, the Caribbean, Ireland, Bermuda, Alaska and Latin America. In addition, a Pan American-Grace Airways film "This is South America", is available for distribution. An eighth film of the series on Hawaii is now in production.

AAF Aerial Television Is Fair Feature

Aerial television as developed by the Army Air Forces today was on display at the California State Fair, which will run through Sept. 12 at Sacramento.

Planned to demonstrate to the public the results of research and development by the Army Air Forces, with a view to aiding commercial television, 18 television receiving screens are located in the Industrial and Machinery Hall, near the Centennial Village and the Home Appliances Building.

In the AAF Television Exhibit in the Industrial and Machinery Hall, two 30-minute shows will be televised daily in two air-cooled booths. A C-47 plane, with camera and pickup equipment mounted about a half mile from the Fair grounds, and while flying over the surrounding country.

Girl's Teeth Change Mind of Kidnapper

A set of good teeth proved more than a match for a pistol and a knife, a 19-year-old girl told harbor division police last week, after a harrowing experience in Walteria.

Audrey E. Chisholm, of 272 West 23rd street, Los Angeles, said she had been kidnapped by a tall, red-haired man as she was getting in her car after a swim in the sea.

Clad in a bathing suit, the girl was driven by the man from Cabrillo Beach to the Palos Verdes hills. Miss Chisholm said the man stopped in an abandoned Gravel Pit near Walteria and tore off the top of her two-piece bathing suit.

As he pulled a knife, the girl screamed and sank her teeth into his arm, she related to officers. According to Miss Chisholm, that was enough for the red-head and he fled down the road with his gun and knife.

Lawyers Plan Constitution Anniversary

Full observance of the 161st anniversary of the signing of the United States Constitution, on Friday, Sept. 17, at the annual convocation of the State Bar of California in Santa Barbara, which will be in session on that date attended by local attorneys and judges, is being urged by Joe Crail, general chairman, and Attorney Harry C. Mabry. Federal, appellate, superior and municipal court judges as well as leading barrister groups of the southland have pledged Crail their cooperation.
